Subject: sell out

You sold out to Microsoft. Bill Gates got an early Christmas present. There is no penalty in the so called "penalties" the Justice Department settled for. Windows XP only shows how Microsoft is carrying on as if there had never been a case. Nobody can say justice was done. Have you checked Microsoft's policy that won't allow Dell or Gateway or anyone else to sell OEM versions of Office to any company with more than 500 computers? What is the justification for that?

What about Passport? What about Windows XP's driving people to Microsoft customers to buy photo and print processing? What about their demand that if someone put an icon on the desktop that THREE Microsoft icons have to be there for affiliated services?

You wasted all that money we paid in taxes to pursue Microsoft. They were proven to be a monopoly that did damage to innovation and competition, and a healthy economy. And you are doing NOTHING to stop it. You don't serve the people, you serve the super rich. As many of us have always suspected you would. Cave in, that is. Thanks for nothing.
